Signature of HOD,

Political science is a social science discipline. It studies state and government and also applies empirical theory and scientific methods to the analysis of political matters. As today's world revolves around politics as well as the economy, a formal Honours degree of political science has the utmost practical applicability. The subject is concerned with everyday life of an individual as a part of the society and state. It studies the political behavior, governance and power and how these are shaped and influenced by institutional set ups and by the ideas, interests, resources and political actors. Therefore, a formal degree in political science enables the students to enhance their grasp of the basic structures and processes of governance, public policies and the political forces that directly impact their lives. Study of political science also helps the students to critically analyse political issues, problems, arguments, informations, etc. The bachelor course prepares students for pursuing higher education in the subject. Many students also take interest in Laws. It also orients students towards different competitive examinations. Above all, the discipline aids students in becoming informed and duty conscious citizens by amplifying knowledges entitlements to their right and duties within the state.
